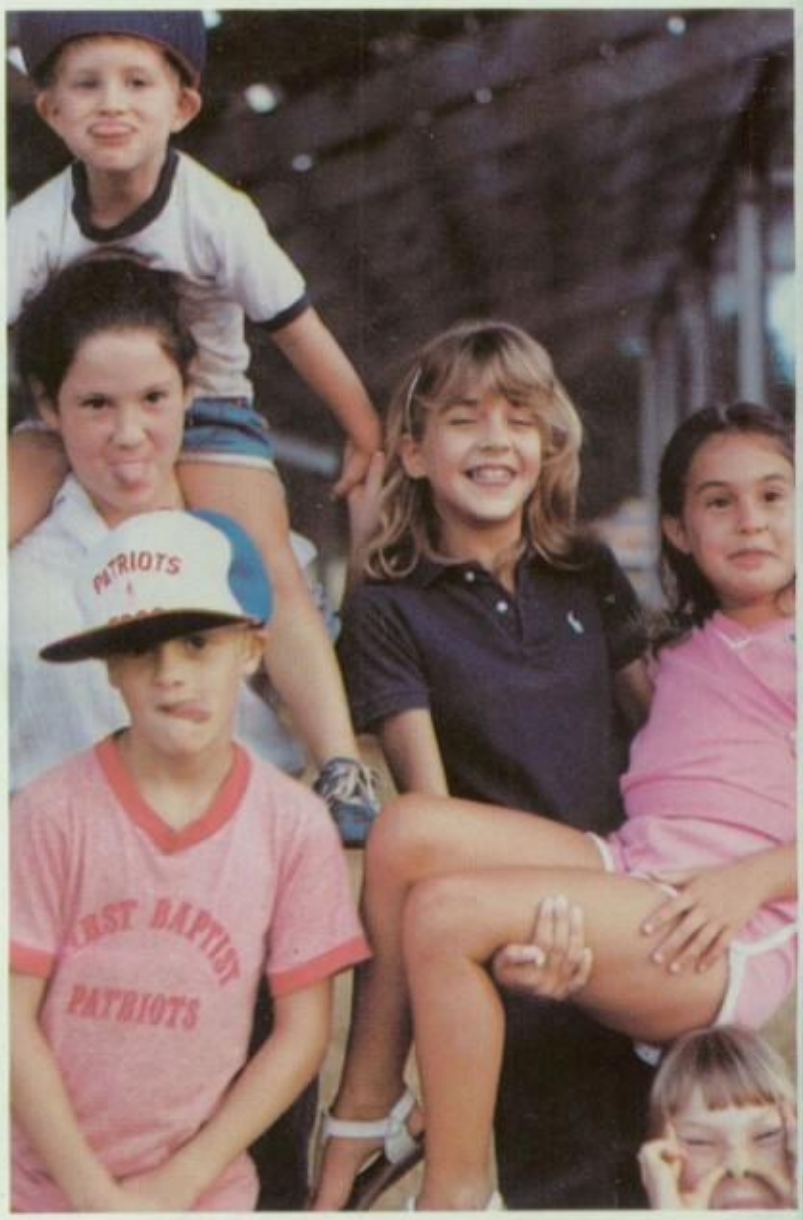
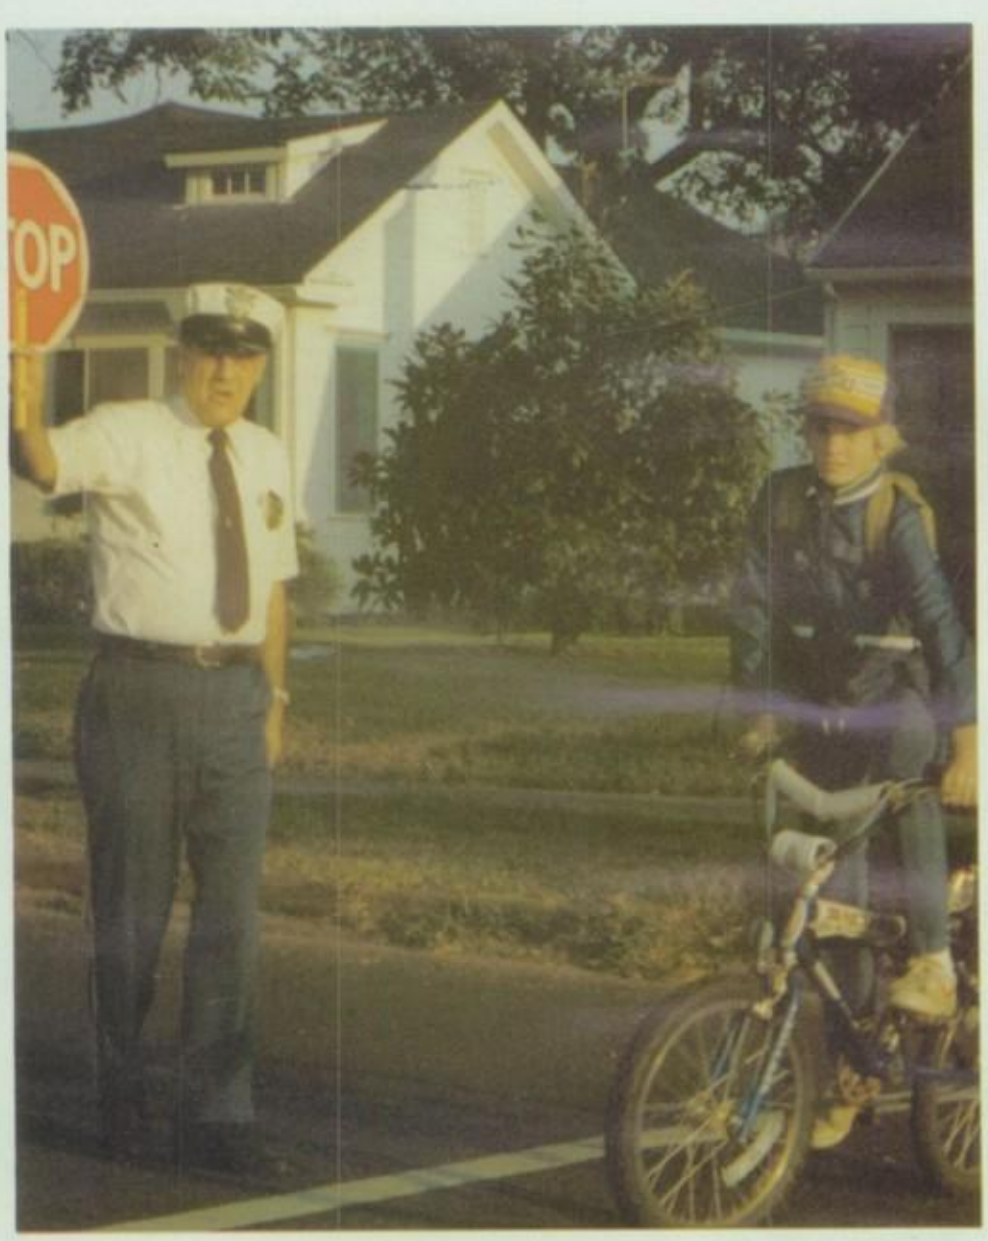
Volume XII

With the dawning

of each new day,





we glorify life

in its many facets.

Eagerly we arise and seize

every opportunity to expand our horizons.

Let us come and explore the new day together.

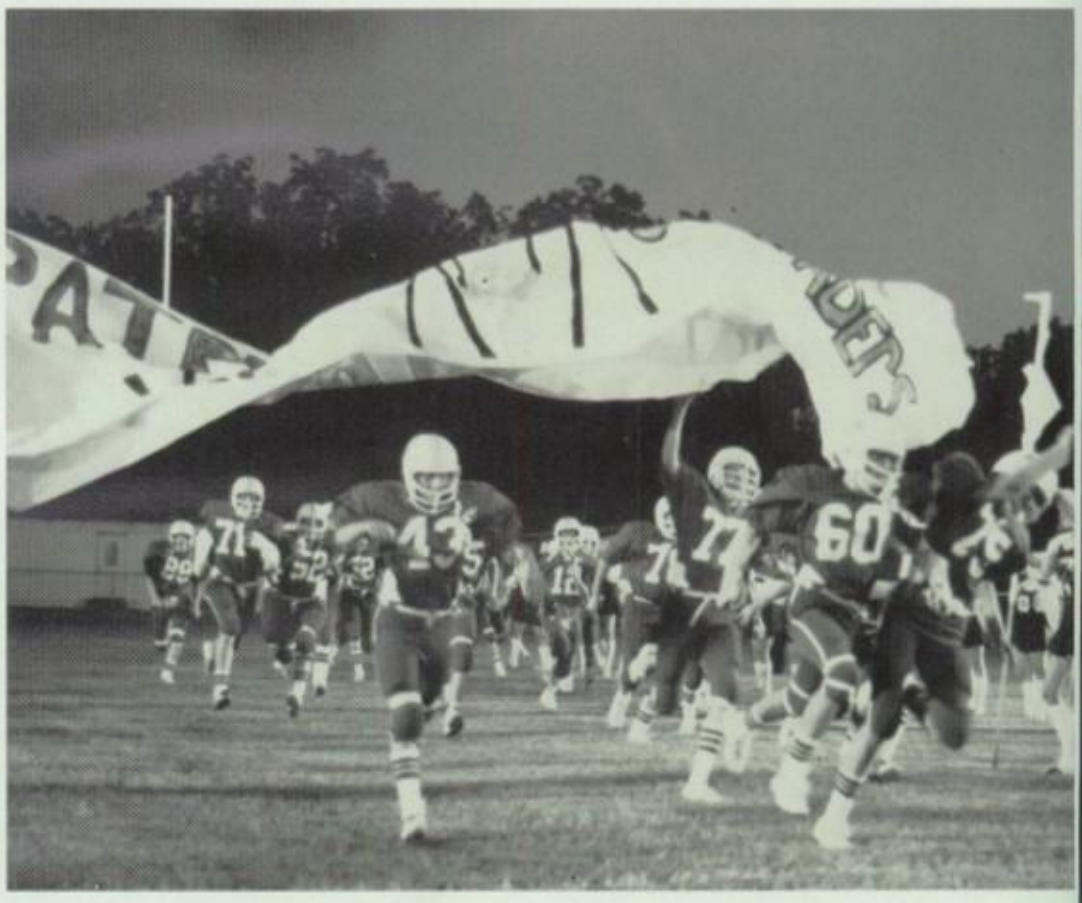
Hand in hand we will conquer



the horizons of today

and establish new horizons

for the morrow.

MASTERY

Math: A Challenge to All

Students at First Baptist were subjected to the intriguing complexities of the math courses. Guided by Mrs. Capelan, Mrs. Chandler, and Mr. Russell, students gained concepts, learned logic, and explored the importance of math in our lives.

Science Proved Fascinating

The science classes covered a spectrum of studies ranging from General Science to Physics under the direction of Mr. White and Mrs. Wilkins. With exuberance and determination, the scientists of First Baptist discovered nature's wonders.

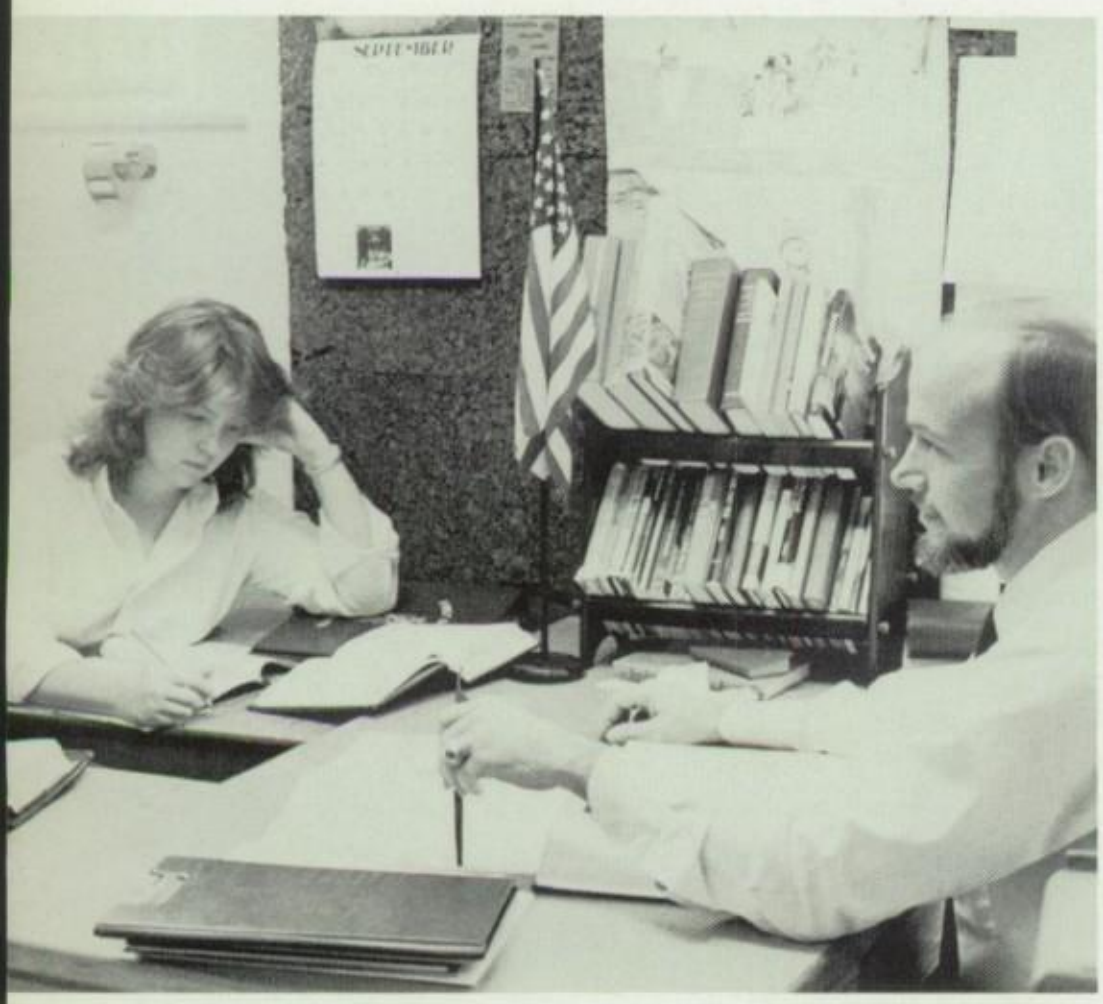
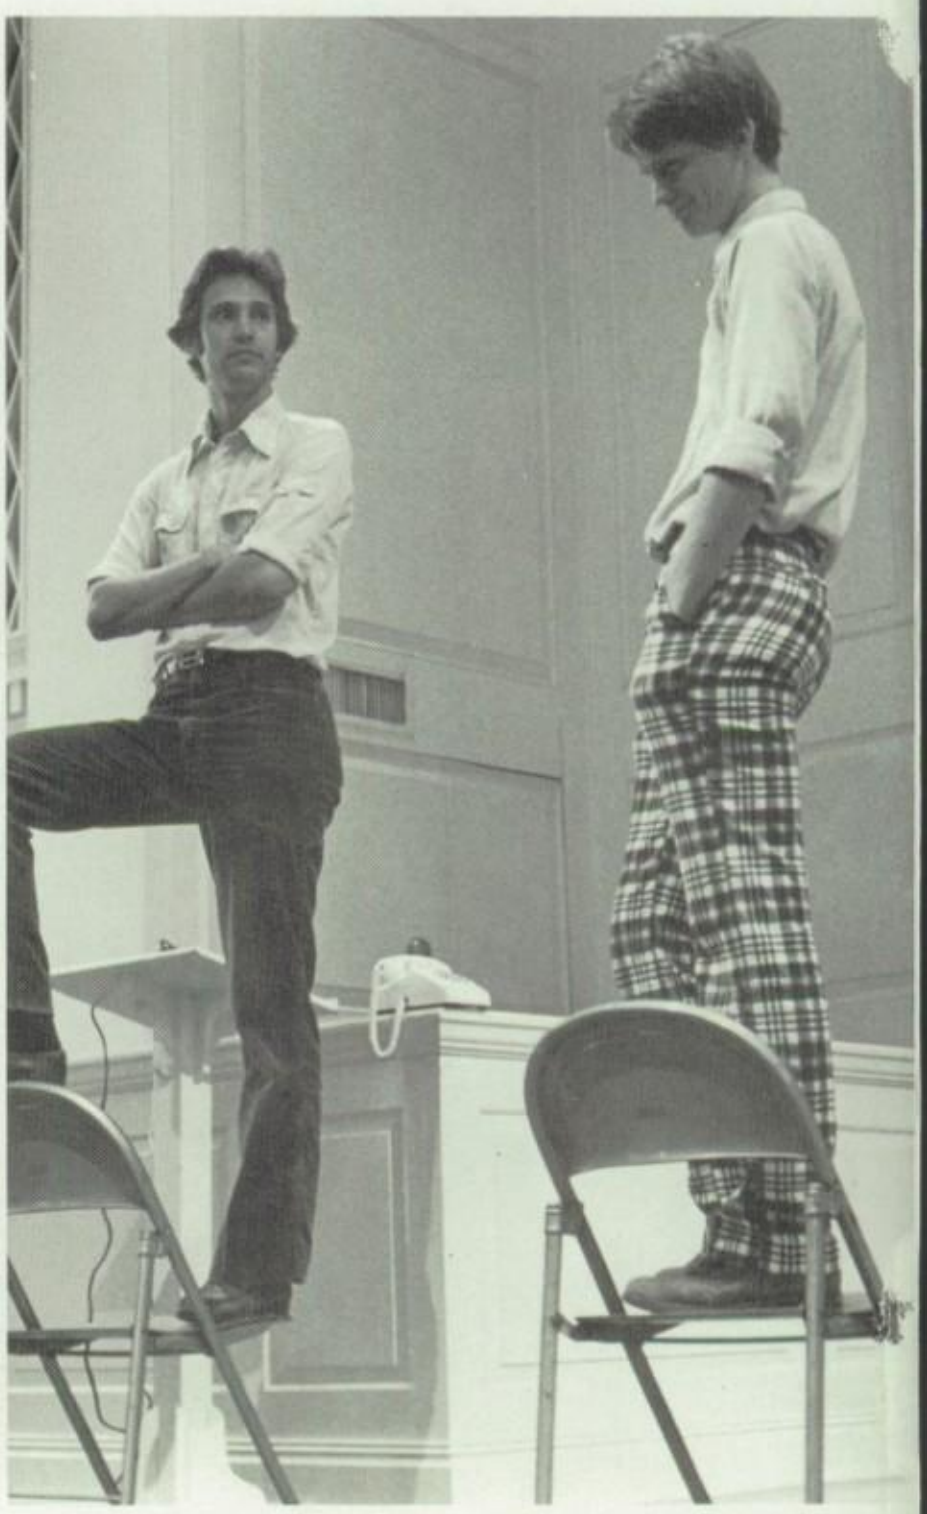
Bible and Chapel Added a Spiritual Dimension

This year, through Chapel and the classes of Bible I and II, Mr. Mabry brought forth stimulating thoughts concerning all Biblical History. The activities for the courses included group and individual projects, as well as Christmas and Easter Chapels. For all who participated, it was an inspiration. In Chapel, Mr. Mabry spoke or presented guest speakers. Bible and Chapel proved to be an enrichment shared by all.





TOP: Kellen Oden was especially attentive to Mr. Mabry prior to six weeks exams. ABOVE: B. Gaensehals stayed after school for extra help in Bible II. RIGHT: R. Herndon put forth his best effort in a memorable skit presented to the students by the Covenant Players.

History Tied Past to Present

History courses: Civics, American History, and World History were enlightening to all who took them. Mr. Rogers brought his knowledge of the past and related it to the present lives of the students. His understanding of the subject linked the past history to the history-making stories of today. Current events around the world and the United States were discussed by the students. With an increased awareness of yesterdays' occurrences and today's problems around the globe, the students came out of the courses ready for the future.

Perfection — The Key to Successful Typing

Mrs. Capelan's typing students acquired valuable skills beneficial to their future. Speed and precision were key elements in their success.

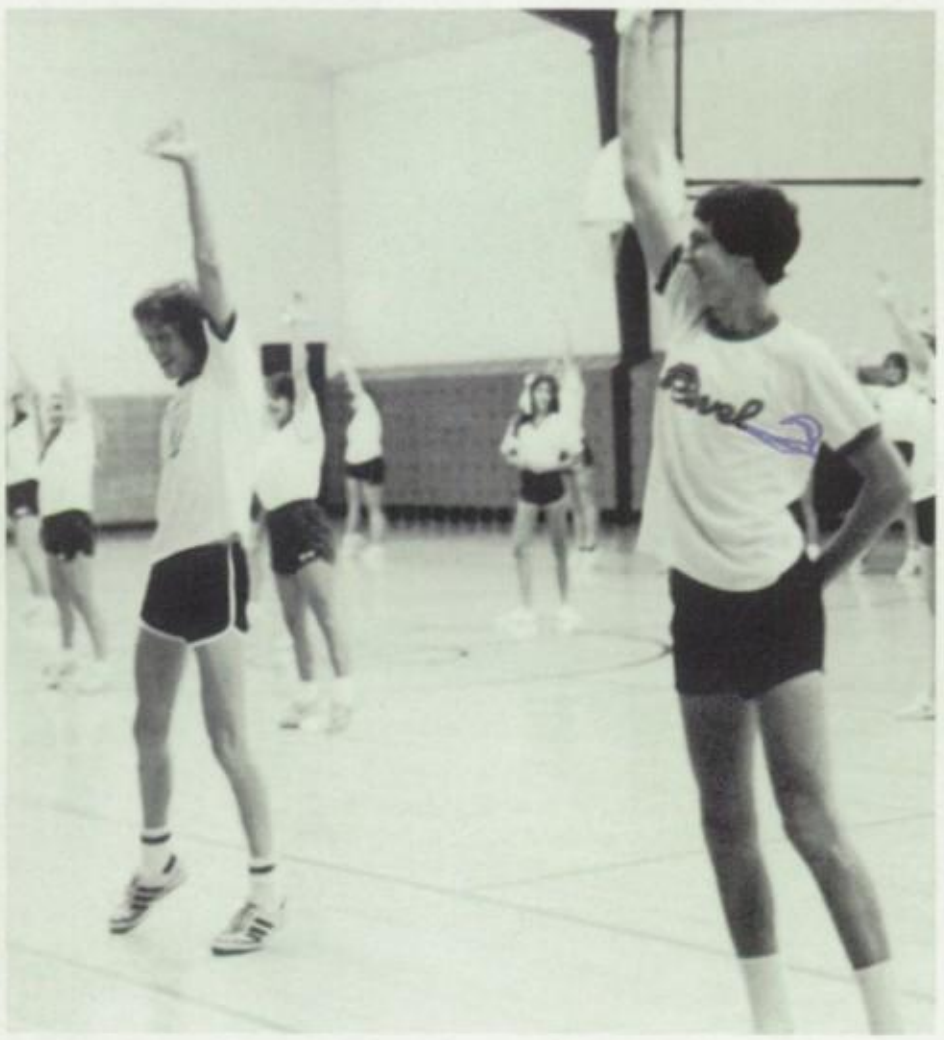
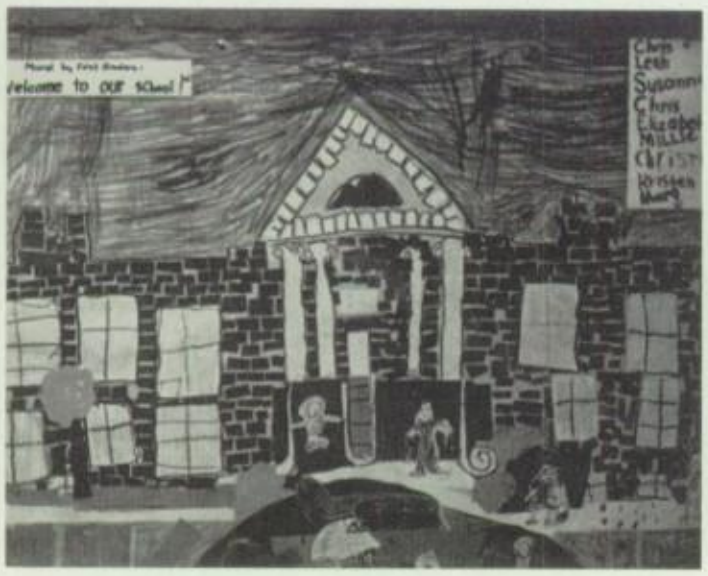
P.E. Developed Physical and Mental Vitality

P.E. was a refreshing break from the daily curriculum. Instructors encouraged students to excel in a variety of sports and learn the rules of the games. First Aid was taught to girls and all learned important life-saving techniques.



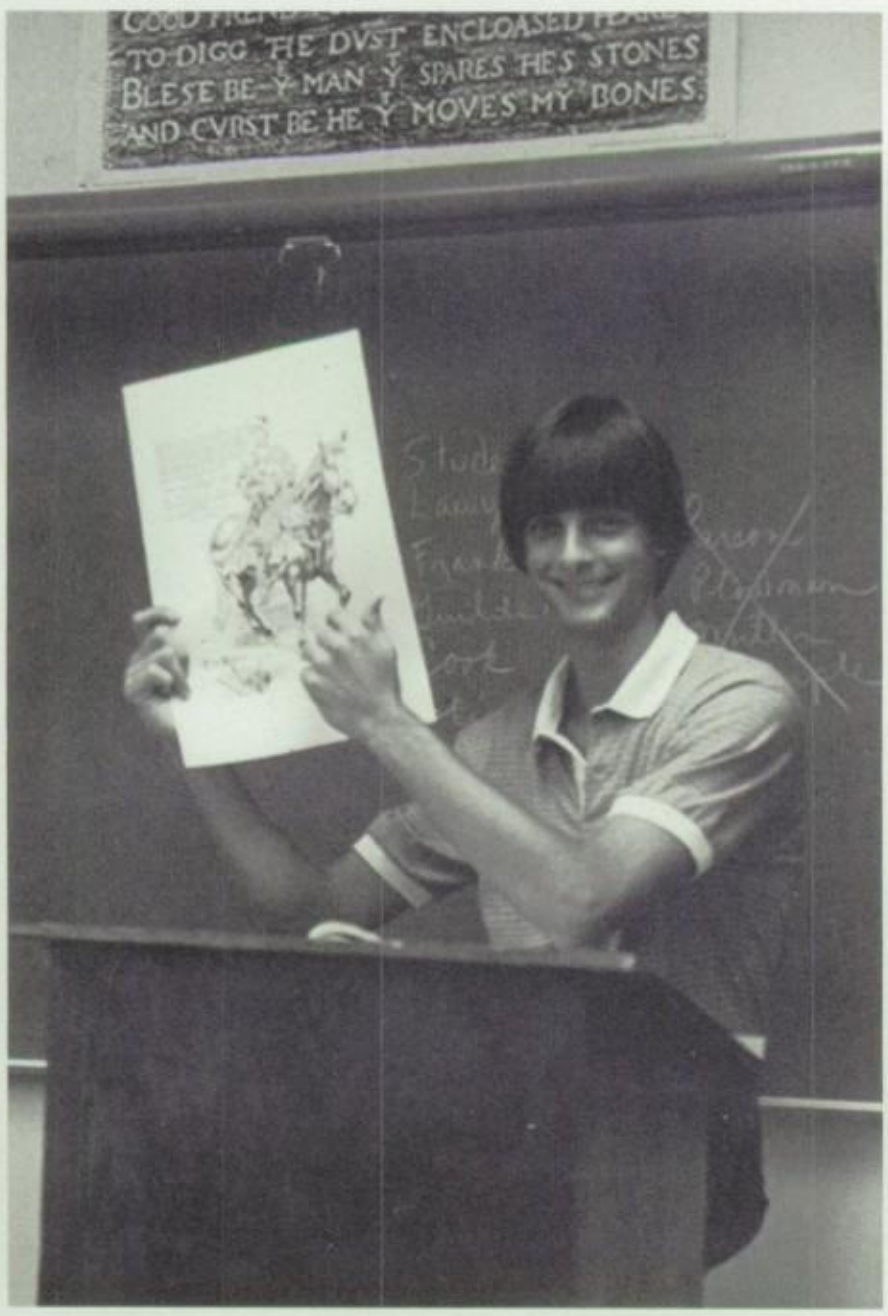
Art Created Innovative Ideas

Advised by Miss Goode, students struggled to learn techniques for various types of art work. The students' ability plus Miss Goode's knowledge of art made this year's classes very successful.



English Stimulated Intellectual Growth

English students learned the intricate facets of the language through grammar and literature. The different areas of English broadened the pupils' appreciation of the language.



OPP. PAGE TOP: Elementary students enjoyed art. OPP. PAGE CENTER LEFT: K. Gore and L. Alexander studied art history. OPP. PAGE CENTER RT.: M. Jordan intently studied his art work. OPP. Electives Enriched English Studies

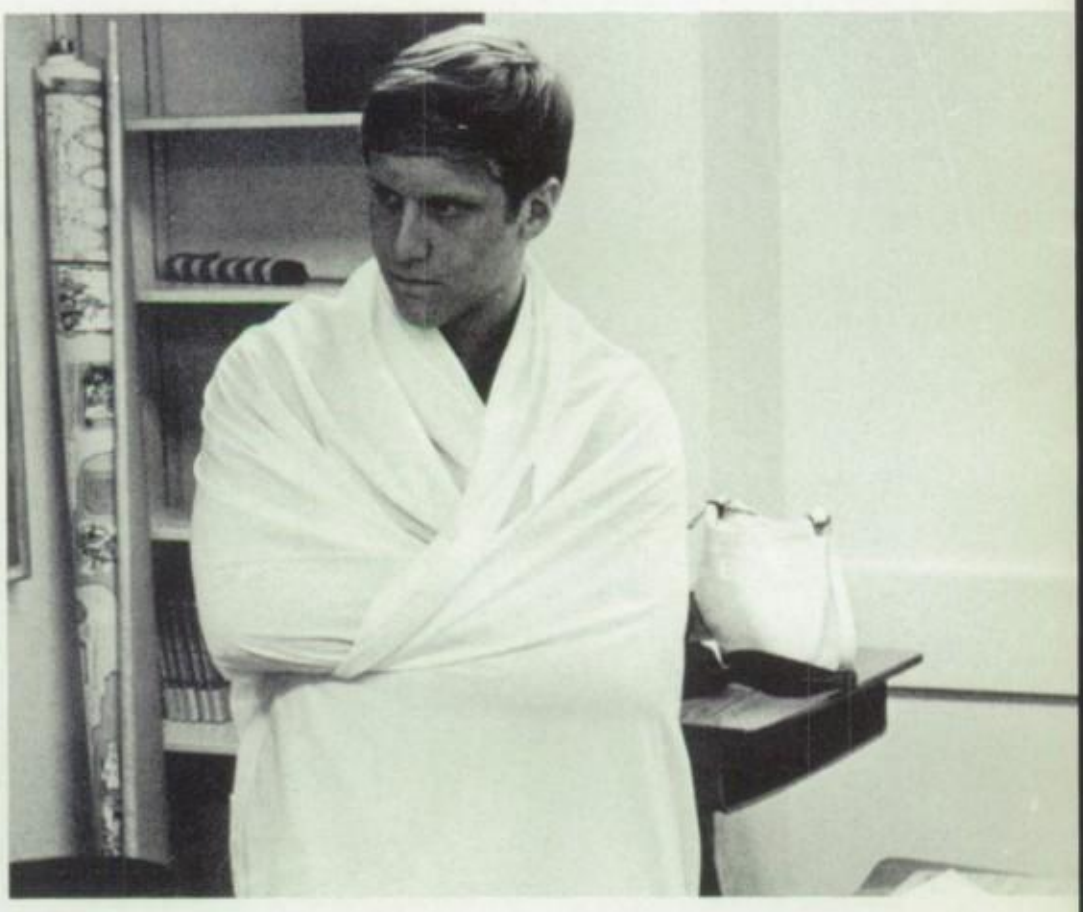
First Baptist offered the courses of Psychology, Modern Drama, Philosophy, and Music Appreciation to take the literary-minded student beyond the basics of English class and into the realm of application of the arts. Through in-depth class discussions and creative group projects, the pupils searched for thoughts relevant to life today from philosophers and musicians of yesterday.

Humanities: A Conglomeration of the Arts

Man's development through literature, history, and music was examined by the Humanities class. Through discussions and presentations, pupils grasped the relationship between art and man.



OPP. PAGE TOP: In Psychology, T. Lambert was taken on a blind walk by P. Parker. OPP. PAGE CENTER LEFT: M. Phillips, R. Gray enjoyed "Southern Maid" Philosophy. OPP. PAGE RT.: J. Jones, R. Various Cultures Expanded Students' Perception

Foreign language students gained awareness through speaking various languages and learning concepts of people in distant lands. These foreign customs helped them to better grasp their beliefs.

ON THE VERGE OF

UNITY

Dedicated Individuals Gave Of Themselves

The service clubs began the year with select individuals and a common purpose. Throughout the year, both clubs gave of themselves so that the school and the community profited from the service. For the "Z"-Club, it began with the monthly visits to a local nursing home. Baking cookies and bringing fruit were small undertakings compared to the enormous gratitude and happiness received from the many elderly. The rest of the year included traditional activities which ranged from selling Homecoming corsages to performing plays at Holy Angels. On request, the Key Club was available for service to the faculty and the students. A new tradition was established this year by the Key Club with the election of sweethearts. Together both clubs linked the students with the community.

Student Council: Leadership and Government

Student Council was a tremendous success and help to the school. A rejuvenated student government worked diligently toward the rebuilding of the student voice at First Baptist.

Booster Club Lifted Spirits

Booster Club was a great asset to our school. These volunteers sponsored banquets and gave the support needed by our athletes. The executive board met monthly to discuss ideas for improvements of the new facility. This club was vital to the school and its activities.

Aqua Club Made a Big Splash

The 1981-82 Aqua Club expanded its membership and ideals. President, Robby Herndon, and club sponsor, Mrs. Garrett, worked to provide exciting events for the members. A ski team was established and ski tournaments were placed on the agenda. For those involved, it was "slolam bliss."

Patriarch Staff Met All Life's Deadlines

Through their diligent yet jovial attitudes, the members of the 1981-82 Patriarch Staff welcomed the opportunity to recreate the year's precious moments for all the students and, in the process, experienced memorable times of their own. All elements of the staffers' year from the hectic camp and workshops to the festive Halloween and Christmas parties proved unforgettable events from which they realized to "Be A Prepper" is to appreciate life.

Liberty Bell Staff Sounded the News

Uniting the student body with its announcements of school activities and opinions on controversial issues, the 1981-82 Liberty Bell Staff achieved success through their talents in journalism. The staff members had the unique ability of arousing interest in their readers toward the subjects covered in their writings and, therefore, created a newspaper influencing the entire school.

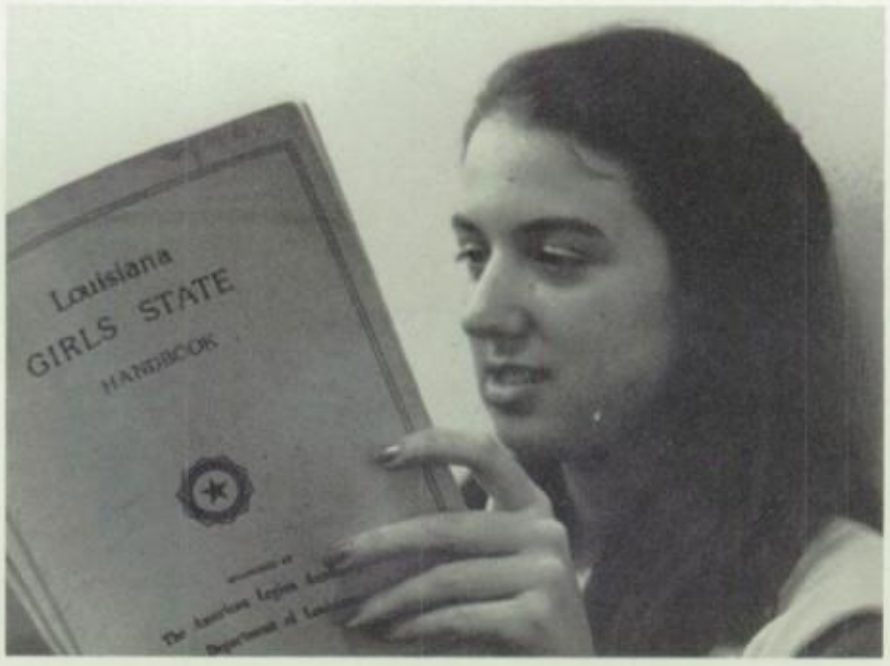
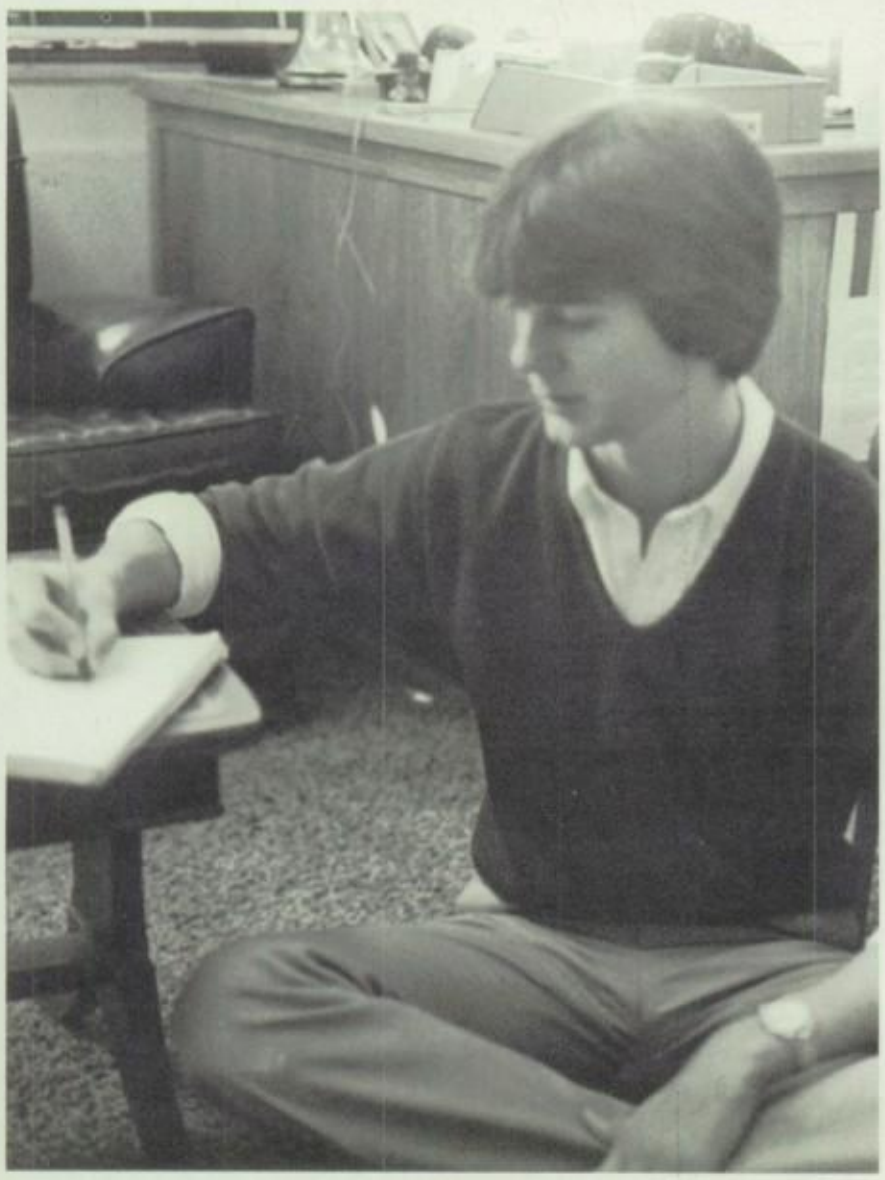
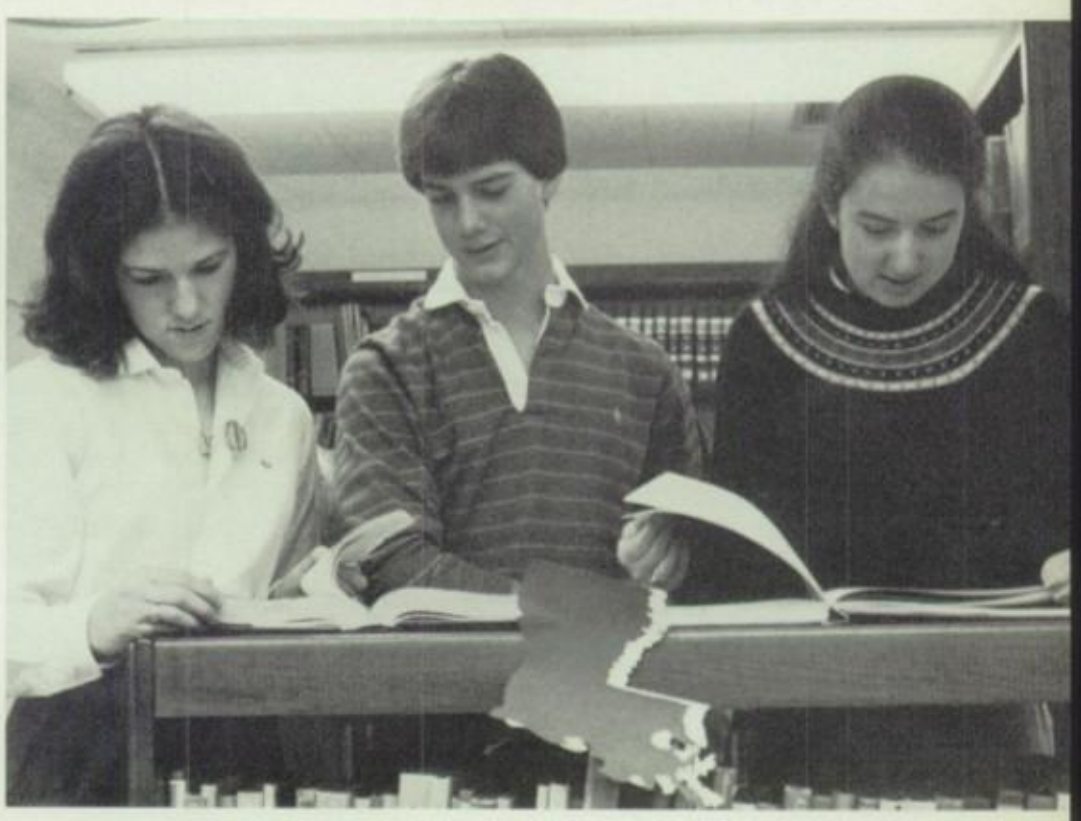
Pelican State Delegates Prepared for Leadership Roles

Serving as Pelican State officers at Baton Rouge in August, Connie Goldsberry, Mary Tucker, and David Leimbrook gained valuable insight into political and social matters. Guest speakers, new friendships, and self awareness filled the strenuous week and affected the lives of Connie, Mary, and David. These three delegates returned to Shreveport ready to accept challenges with their knowledge acquired from Pelican State.







Gun Club Aimed for Precision

Professional marksmanship and safety went together to build a strong, well-developed Gun Club. This year's program promoted safety, introduced new rifle techniques, and created exciting activities for the members of the club.

Drama Club Encouraged Self-Expression

Although not Hollywood, the 1981-82 Drama Club "peaked" early in the season. Starting with the successful play, "Red Carnations," the Drama Club strived for the ultimate achievement — "Acting at its finest."

Foreign Language Clubs Enriched Cultural Atmosphere

The foreign language clubs, while keeping up with tradition, made some new plans and changes. French, Latin, and Spanish Clubs increased in number through the variety of activities they offered. Through new experiences, club members became more familiar with customs and cultures.

National Merit Commended Academic Excellence

First Baptist was honored to have two National Merit Semi-Finalists in their student body this year. These superior intellectual achievers, Connie Goldsberry and Gloria Trent, reaped the rewards of academic excellence and superior intelligence.

Quiz Bowl Embodied Intellectual Prowess

The First Baptist Quiz Bowl Team, sponsored by Centenary College, was made up of six outstanding high school students. Quiz Bowl Teams were designed to challenge the intellect and the diverse knowledge of the area's youth. Students selected for the Quiz Bowl were individuals who had profited from alert observation and diligent study.

NHS Linked Character and Achievement

Academic excellence was once again recognized by the faculty of First Baptist through National Honor Society. Not only did these students have consistent scholastic achievement, they revealed a loyalty and dedication for their school and their classmates.

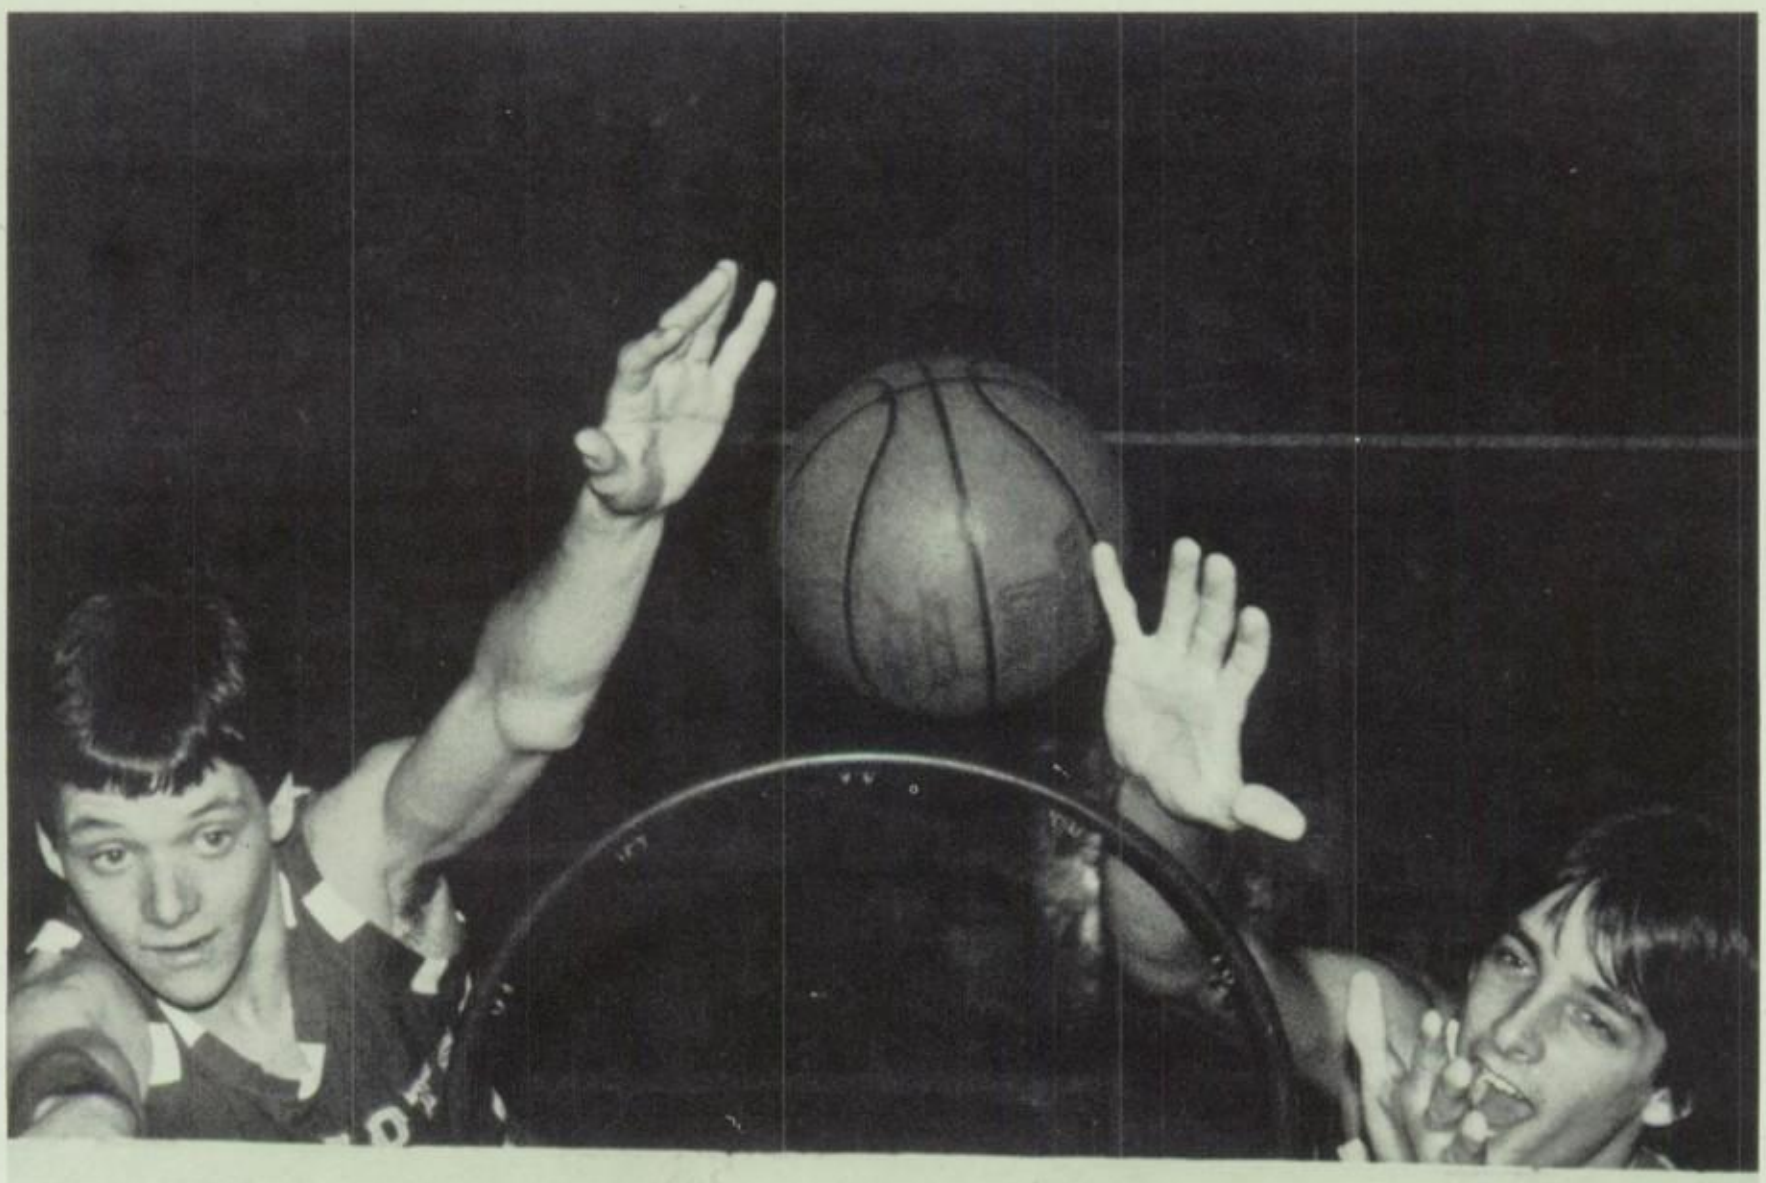
ON THE VERGE OF



VICTORY

Pep Squad Marched Onward With True Patriotism

This year with their new emblems and various formations, the Pep Squad raised the Patriot's spirit high. Each member worked hard on formations and locker decorations to uplift each team's spirits. The devotion of the officers and sponsor united everyone's spirit into an organization that would supply spirit and energy for the entire school.

Drill Team Moved In

As a result of the organizational skills of Mrs. Wheeler and Georgia Speer, the new drill team became an integral part of Pep Squad. Miss Rogers taught the marching team routines which they performed to music. These were practiced to perfection and executed at pep rallies and games. The team added entertainment to half-time activities by performing various routines. Due to the success of the first-year drill team, a new tradition was established.

Cheerleaders Promoted Patriot Spirit

Following their highly successful summer camp and Southpark Mall competitions, the 1981-82 Patriot cheerleaders were revitalized in spirit, ability, and attitude — all elements of triumph that reflected upon and excited the entire student body. Through pep rallies, spirit breakfasts, and dress-up days, the cheerleaders impressed the needs for determination from the team members and support from the Patriot fans. To all, the cheerleaders represented a unit of enthusiasm, energy, and friendship.

Individual Efforts Fortified Unity

The 1981 Patriots had a winning season and almost attained the district championship. Led by the respected Coach Wayne Zumwalt, in his fifth year at First Baptist, and Coach John David Creech, the Patriots surprised many opponents in their first year of 1-A competition. Each team member matured into a competent athlete and the entire squad developed into a single unit. During the season, the Patriots learned that the thrill of victory was invigorating, but a winner was not always the one with the most points at the end of the game.

Team Cooperation Strengthened Spirit

Working together, the Patriots developed a winning attitude. The completion of the new field rekindled a spirit which had been somewhat dormant for the past few years. Ending the season with a 5-4 record, the Patriots earned long awaited respect as a team. Finishing in district with a 4-2 record, the Patriots ended their season knowing that they were a vastly improved ball club.

Homecoming Climaxed Patriot Season

The 1981 Homecoming brought enjoyment to the entire student body and boosted spirits of team and fans alike. The pageantry of the court added excitement to this annual event. The maids, escorted by their fathers, were presented during half-time ceremonies. Victory over Riverdale was the culmination of an eventful week.

Boys Shot for High Goals

As the awesome 1981-82 Patriot teams made their comeback from last year's depressing season, all the intensity and excitement grew. Led by Coach Creech, the Patriots showed fans what basketball really meant.

A high point of the basketball season was the selection of Sweetheart and Maids. These girls were chosen for their dedication to the team and their demonstration of Patriot spirit.

Competition Challenged Soccer Team

Entering its third year, the First Baptist Soccer Team was geared for new challenges. Under the guidance and leadership of Coach Enos Russell, the Patriots were taught the values of teamwork and sportsmanship. Heading into the spring of 1982, the Soccer Team was viewed with renewed interest and spirit.

OPP. PAGE TOP: Roger Gray kicked one in against Jesuit. OPP. PAGE LEFT: The Patriots prepared to start the second half. OPP. PAGE RIGHT: Billy King maneuvered around an opponent. OPP. PAGE BOTTOM: Merritt Johnson found fascination off the field. TOP: Mr. Russell provided leadership on and off the soccer field. ABOVE LEFT: Lon Smith dribbled down the sideline. RIGHT: Jeff Lovell put the ball back into play.

Patriot Softball Swung Into Action

Under the leadership of Coach John David Creech, the Lady Patriots strived to create a successful season. Each girl contributed much practice time, and anticipated victory. New skills and techniques were developed, creating a bond of unity and teamwork felt by all.

A Tough Act to Follow

We were just like preceding graduating classes in that we contributed to our school. Our class brought loyalty and a sense of patriotism to the school and hugs, smiles, and laughter to each other. Our willingness to be true achievers set us apart from the rest. As our class abandoned the halls of First Baptist, the echoes of our memories sounded across the broad horizons set before us.

Miss Patriarch

Lesa Penny

Lesa was selected as Miss Patriarch on the basis of her outstanding leadership qualities, illustrated in her positions as Patriarch Staff Editor and Sophomore Class President. Serving as Pep Squad drummer and Senior cheerleader, she showed true Patriot spirit and spread it through her work in Z Club, Latin Club, and the National Honor Society. With her extracurricular activities, Lesa combined scholastic achievement, as she was placed on the Honor Roll, chosen for Junior Honor Guard, and recognized by Who's Who. Selected as Freshman favorite and Junior Basketball Maid, she was greatly admired by her classmates. This extreme dedication to the school qualified Lesa Penny for Miss Patriarch 1982.

Mr. Patriarch

Todd Barlow

Todd was chosen Mr. Patriarch because of his involvement in all facets of the high school. He displayed his various talents through membership in the Student Council, Aqua Club, and National Honor Society. Athletically, Todd participated as a member of the soccer team for two years and basketball team for four years. Due to his academic excellence, he received many honors, including selection into the Junior Honor Guard, recognition by Who's Who, and acceptance into the Society of Distinguished Students. Todd also took a part in his class activity, as he was named Freshman favorite and Junior Class Secretary. His overall achievement gave Todd Barlow the title of Mr. Patriarch.

We, the staff of the 1982 Patriarch, have attempted to portray the spirit of First Baptist as the embodiment of mastery, unity, victory, and progress: mastery exemplified by academic excellence, unity achieved through increased enrollment and student cooperation, victory realized both on and off court and field, and progress attained through utilization of physical and spiritual resources. This spirit is personified by those individuals of the graduating class who have strived to expand their horizons within these walls and will now move forward with confidence to scale those horizons beyond the perimeter of this institution. To them we dedicate this book encouraging others to follow their example in taking advantage of every opportunity to broaden their horizons.
